

May 27 - This weekend's big event was my first Taekwondo kickathon! I did 850 kicks in all. After that came work stations including running kicks, sit-ups and push-ups . . . followed by a yummy potluck. Mama and nana are very pleased with the school community. Welcoming and a super vibe - with older kids helping with training. We had so much fun! Nina was there too!

On Sunday morning I woke up fine then suddenly felt sick. At first mama and nana didn't believe me, but after five bouts of upchuking and countless numbers of sessions sitting on the john . . . I ended up having to wear mama's panties because I didn't have any left . . . Mama and I wrote a song about it . . . we sang it to nana over the phone and she laughed and laughed and laughed.

On Monday I went to daycare and mama went to teach . . . and started getting what I had. Oh-oh.

Using mama's easel!
Photo by Augusta Rose!

Shopping list!

Sick day - wearing mama's panties!