Nana came to daycare Friday and read two stories – But No Elephants and Good Night Moon (she fell asleep when she was finished, but Evelyn woke her up!). It was fun – Evelyn told nana she was a good reader.

Mama came and we went to TaeKwonDo – the class sure was tiny – Fridays in the summer and people are busy. Mama made us a yummy supper and Lila came over – she stayed until ELEVEN! We had lots of fun! On Saturday morning we did a little shopping and nana got me a Flip-A-Zoo stuffy – a penguin that turns into a seal pup. Then we went to a rock shop in Bedford and got some crystals for Nina's birthday. There were so many beautiful stones!

After supper I went to Lila's while mama vacuumed and washed floors and cleaned baseboards and walls and – wow! We were in bed by 10 – we were all pooped!

On Sunday, we went into pancake production! Lots wound up in the freezer – yum yum! We made frozen yogurt this weekend too ! Lila came over at 10 and mama and nana kept cleaning – this time the kitchen cupboards mostly and then they went downstairs outside and turned the area under the stairs into a cozy “tree-fort-without-the-tree!”

At 2 nana left for home and we and Lila went to the Creighton Street Family Fair and painted the sidewalk!
