Sanea's Birthday party at Atlantic Cirque on Friday! On Saturday mama, nana & I had a Valentines double-filled cookie bake-off for my class – O What Fun! They'll go with the Valentines cards I made for my class and 3 teachers :-)

This will be a Sweet week! Tuesday we celebrate 100th-day at school. Thursday we celebrate Valentines & Friday is swimming day!!!

“War is the worst case of galloping greedy gimme!” - the “G” phrase is thanks to Bernstein Bear which I haven't read for ages . . . but it's a fine description of war.

February 17 :-)

Long weekend! I got new slippers – yay! After the rain storm on Saturday we got out finally at 3:30 – mommy, nana and I walked to the library – I got a whack of great books!

On Sunday, mommy, nana, Brooklyn and I went to Shubie Park for a walk. We fed the squirrels and had fun. We were so good to be around nana treated us to a Tim Horton's cocoa and snack before she went back to Kingsburg.

Feb 20 - Mama went to parent-teacher night. Guess what?! I've learned everything I'm supposed to learn by the end of the year in Math, Reading & Writing!!! And I'm moving right along learning more! My math teacher Jill really likes me and said such nice things how I help others, and I'm so kind to the kids who don't know English – I use simple words, sentences, when I talk with them. And how I pay attention and only need to hear directions once, I get my work done quickly.
