

I love you Augustina
Love Aice

February 23, 2019

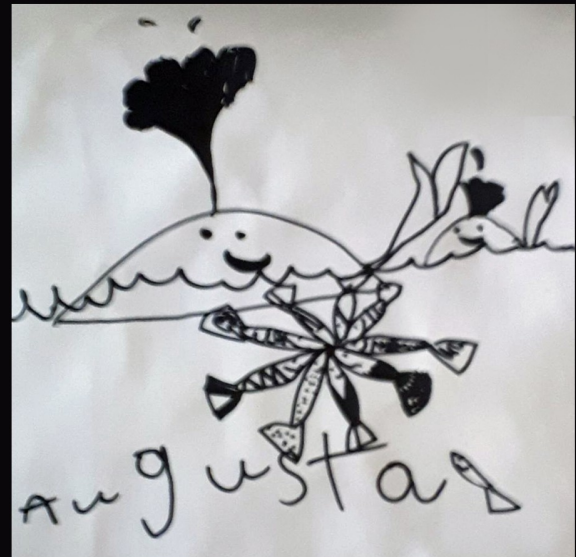

I was home sick on Thursday. I had a phone chat with nana. She asked how my day was . . . then she got confused. She thought I said “I waxed the ceiling!” We had a good laugh over that!

I won our class a prize! A guest was singing songs to us. He told us there'd be a pun hidden in a song and whoever guessed it would win their class a prize!!! I got it and chose a puzzle for figuring it out. The other winner was a teacher – she chose the book. Mommy was so proud of me!

In the photo I'm illustrating a story I wrote about a cat. Mama did the printing and I did the pictures.

To nana: “Reading is fun!”

A friend gave me a nice note at school.

Making art

Making product